U. OF V. IS PRAISED BY SPEAKERS

Delegates From Many Foreign Institutions Unite in Homage

WELCOMING ADDRESS

French Ambassador Responds—Tablet Unveiled to 80 Alumni Who Gave Lives in World War

Charlottesville, Va., June 2.—Representatives of 19 foreign universities and societies and almost 150 American college presidents and members of educational institutions, delegates to the University of Virginia centennial celebration, today paid their tribute of respect to the university upon the holding of the one hundredth anniversary of its founding. The meeting was the first formal assemblage of the celebration, which opened yesterday.

In full academic regalia, adorned with multi-colored hoods and gowns denoting degrees received in universities in many foreign lands, the delegates filed into Cabell Hall and listened to addresses of welcome by Governor Westmoreland Davis, of Virginia, and Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia.

Responses were made by Jules Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United State; Dr. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University; Dr. Albert Ross Hill, president of the University of Missouri, and Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of William and Mary College. All of the speakers praised the work of the university during the 100 years of its existence, and paid tribute to Thomas Jefferson, its founder.

Governor Davis, after welcoming the visitors, pled for a return of simplicity of government, and told of the accomplishments of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and other prominent Virginians.

"The war is over," he said. "We are again in a period of reconstruction. We are standing here in the shadow of 'the great builder.' The genius and foresight of Jefferson should advise us in this period of readjustment. President Jefferson abhorred war, and this university should carry this message in its teachings. We should see to it that the expenses of government are decreased, so that we may go back to that Jeffersonian simplicity which has so impressed the world."

Dr. Alderman, in his welcoming address, described the university as "the largest intellectual achievement of an old and distinguished State." Ambassador Jusserand, who responded to the address of welcome on behalf of the foreign institutions, spoke of the rapid strides America has made in the world of education.

"While continuing to learn," he said, "America can also teach. She is one of the nations in the vanguard of civilization as regards learning and discoveries. Her universities, laboratories, libraries, scientific periodicals are the envy of more than one foreign nation. She not only receives professors from abroad but sends some of her own, who are received with open arms and open ears."

In responding for the endowed universities of the country, Dr. Lowell placed upon the colleges of America the burden of preparing the way for generations of unborn citizens. He referred to the assembled delegates as a great "brotherhood of scholars," and said that the oceans—"symbols of eternity"—were the only things human forces cannot change. Dr. Hill responded for the universities of the country, while Dr. Chandler made his speech of response on behalf of the colleges of Virginia.

Delegates to the anniversary exercises enrolled at the rotunda this morning and, forming in a procession marched to Cabell Hall. Delegates from institutions in foreign countries headed the column and they were followed by delegates from American colleges and present and former professors and officials of the University of Virginia. Governor Davis and Dr. Alderman were at the rear of the procession."

Foreign War Veterans

Russell Mitchell Post, No. 609, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has advanced the following ten reasons why foreign war veterans should join its ranks.

1. Because if you have seen Foreign Service, fighting for "Old Glory" you are worthy and eligible.
2. Because there is no other Rank and File Organization like the V. F. W.; it was created for you.
3. Because by becoming affiliated with this live organization you are associated with men who have seen kindred service.
4. Because your comrades need you and believe you need the Organization.
5. Because of the creed of the V. F. W. and the real fighting spirit which still pervades its ranks.
6. Because you can aid us in making this the greatest Veteran Organization of all time.
7. Because the V. F. W. represents pure Americanism.
8. Because you can be assured that this Organization will do all in its power to aid the Service and the ex-Service man and this has been proven.
9. Because in conecting yourself with this Organization you become "part and parcel" of an organization that always has and always will be self-sustaining.
10. Because this Organization believes in the doctrine of Rooseevlt—One Flag, One Country and One Language; is tolerant, not political and non-sectarian.

TOLL IN TULSA RACE RIOTS 85

Martial Law Brings Measure of Quiet After Rioting

MILITARY ON GUARD

Negro Section in Which 10,000 Persons Were Housed Mass of Smouldering Ruins

Tulsa, Okla., June 2.—Martial law prevailed in bullet-swept Tulsa yesterday afternoon, with four companies of war-manned State troops under Adjutant-General Barrett on duty. Twenty hours of desperate race rioting had destroyed $4,000,000 worth of property and razed almost the entire negro section.

The city, blood-drenched and blackened by incendiary fires, was beginning to take care of its dead, conservatively estimated at 85. Police reports show 25 whites and 60 negroes are known to have been killed.

Major Charles W. Daley, of the police force, estimated the dead at 175. He believes a number of negroes were burned to death when their homes were swept by fire.

Four of the white men known to have been killed have been identified as follows:

Homer Cline, 17 Tulsa; Cleo Shumate, 24, Tulso; Emmett Buckley, 35, Leroy, N. Y.; Carl D. Lotseisch, Randall, Kan.

Man previously identified as F. M. Baker, Haviland, Kan., believed to be Norman Gillard, Tulsa.

Two thousand negroes have fled from the city as a result of fierce race rioting which held the city in its grip late last night and throughout the morning.

Dawn broke in Tulso this morning with the city an inferno of race hatred. A night of terror, marked by the rush of armed men through the streets and frequent clashes by frenzied whites and negroes, brought a steadily mounting death list and increased violence.

Martial law was declared at noon, Governor Robertson issuing the order by telephone from Oklahoma City. The armed bands which had been roving through the city were ordered dispersed. All persons not deputized as special officers were ordered to disarm by Mayor T. D. Evans.

While comparative quiet reigned this afternoon after the frenzy of the morning had cooled, there is sporadic firing. Scattered firing was heard in various parts of the city late today.

The toll of the race riots can only be estimated at present. With the "black belt" Istislmoldering, searchers have been unable to check all of the casualties. The total of wounded may be more than 100.

The fire which raged in the negro section all morning was confined to that district, although white residence sections were imperiled by the flames.

The negro section of Tulso, lying in the northeast part of the city, roughly forms a letter "L," extending a quarter of a mile east and west and from a half-mile to a mile north and south. It is estimated that about 10,000 of the 13,000 negroes in the city live in this area.

State troops, under Adjutant-General Barnett, arrived this morning and immediately strong cordons were thrown out in the affected districts and the work of rounding up the negroes was begun. The troops were aided by armed white men.

A Job for Oklahoma.

Every occurrence like the terrible race riot just reported from Tulsa, Oklahoma, makes it more difficult for both races all through the country to maintain that peaceful relationship necessary to anything like a solution of the negro problem.

It makes little difference who set a spark to the powder in the Oklahoma town; it was plentiful and it was dry. Such an outbreak could be but the culmination of a long series of covert offenses waged by foolish and misguided members of both the white and the black race against each other. There is enough in the Tulsa conflagration that is discreditable to both races to preclude the necessity of attempting to fix the blame. The wiping out with fire of a whole section of the town containing the homes of the colored people reflects no credit upon a civilized community and particularly upon the white people in it. Neither does the hilarious and barbaric revelry with which the colored people sprang at the first drop of the hat to all sorts of excesses show them up in a good light.

Both sides in this affair seem to have been tarred with the same stick, and God knows the stick was black enough.

We of the South have insisted, and rightly, that we shall be left to manage our own affairs and settle the negro problem. Now let Oklahoma get busy and by going to the bottom of this hideous thing and punishing the guilty vindicate the right of the white people of the South to solve the problem without interference from the Federal Government and with justice to a weaker and, in the South at least, a politically helpless race.

Teeth, but Strange Teeth.

According to reliable sources of information in Washington, President Harding has been feeling out certain of the larger foreign powers with a view to forming a "association of nations" based upon the Allied Supreme Council and an International Court.

This obviously is what Mr. Harding meant by the promise made during the campaign that he would give us "an association with teeth in it." An "association of nations" based on the Allied Supreme Council and a world court is indeed one with "teeth" in it, and passing strange "teeth" at that.

In the place of a League of Nations with every nation of the world in it, little and big, with regular legislative, judicial and to some degree executive administrative machinery, he proposes a star-chamber council composed of the five leading victorious nations of the late war, prepared to act and enforce their actions through the Hague or some other international court.

Mr. Harding's plans are yet too nebulous to be taken seriously, but if they are anything like these reports have them, the party-breach healer from Marion had best reflect a long time before proceeding with them. The proposed "association" has all the weakness and none of the strength of the so-called Wilson League now in existence. Every argument that was used against the League can be used against it and a good many more for good measure. In attempting to win both the friends and enemies of the League in this country, isn't the President afraid that he may lose them both?

TOLL IN TULSA RACE WAR IS 85

Convention Hall was being used as a stockade and more than 2,000 negroes are confined there under strong guard. The jail baseball park and other places also were turned into prison camps and about 4,000 are detained in those places.

The race war broke out last night following the arrest late yesterday of a negro, Dick Rowland, for an alleged attack on an orphan white girl.

The negro was taken to the courthouse and later placed in jail, which is on the upper floor of the county building. He was removed yesterday from the city to an unnamed spot. Officers declared he would be given a speedy trial.

Seven distinct engagements marked the progress of the race war from its outbreak last night until noon. The first shot was fired at 10 o'clock last night in the street at the corner of Sixth and Boulder, when 200 armed negroes who had been parading the streets on foot and in motorcars for an hour and a crowd of whites gathered about the courthouse steps, nearly all of whom were municed. The negroes had paraded past the courthouse repeatedly, apparently in the belief that the whites intended to lynch the negro accused of the attack.

As the minutes passed the white men obtained a few guns and began to assume a belligerent attitude themselves.

Finally a verbal altercation between the factions began. Suddenly a shot rang out and instantly the firing became general and the crowd scattered in haste, while the armed negroes began training their guns on the fleeing forms.

Following the firing of the first shot the fighting spread to various parts of the city, including the business section. At one time 2,000 armed white men were reported to have engaged the negroes.

Railroad stations were the scene of several encounters and a number of casualties resulted when trains were fired upon. Women and children huddled together in the stations, seeking safety behind marble wainscoting.

The attack this morning shifted to the "black belt," where the screams of terror-stricken negroes were heard above the sounds of the firing and the shouts of the mob.

Frenzied bands of whites drove the negroes out of the section. They fled in terror or surrendered by the score before the advance of the whites. Houses were entered, one at a time; the women were ordered into the streets and the men who failed to surrender immediately were shot down.

The fire, started by mobs of roving whites, destroyed almost the entire negro settlement of 1,500 homes. The City Fire Department, which responded when the fire first broke out, was said to have been driven away by whites. The rioters assisted soldiers and deputy sheriffs in an effort to have the white residential district.

A military commission composed of seven city officials and business men to pass upon the status of 6,900 negroes held under guard in improvised prison camps, was formed by Mayor T. D. Evans and Chief of Police Gustafson with the approval of General Barrett.

A motley assortment of guns, razors, knives and ammunition taken from the negroes was confiscated. Charges are filed against all negroes found carrying arms.

A touch of modern warfare was lent by the appearance of a half dozen airplanes overhead. It was reported at first that some of them were carrying nitroglycerin bombs, such as are used by oil well shooters, but later it was learned that several sight seeing ships had been up but that neither city, county nor State authorities had resorted to the use of planes to restore order.

Reports persisted throughout the morning that armed negroes were coming to Tulsa from Muskogee and other towns, but these rumors were discontinued by officers. Automobiles filled with armed whites guarded the roads leading into Tulsa to offer resistance, but no one appeared so far as could be learned.

Prompt medical attention was given to the wounded, negroes as well as whites, at local hospital and dressing stations. Civic organizations and citizens who volunteered their services cared for the negro refugees, to whom ice water and sandwiches were served throughout the day. Special care was given to the aged and infirm and a call was sent to nearby towns for available nurses.

Electrician Says Chasco-Vin Is A Great Tonic

"Chasco-Vin is worth recommending because it does the work. I had been troubled with a generally run-down system for a long time and was in bad shape generally, but five (5) bottles of Chasco-Vin certainly put me on my feet. I am in the best of health now, can eat and enjoy it and I sleep well too and when I work I am not all dragged down with that tired feeling as before. As I said before Chasco-Vin is well worth recommending and I will always do so." George L. Schrem, Electrician, Westville, N. J.

Chasco-Vin is only sold by specially appointed agents. In Alexandria the Chasco-Vin Agency is Edgar Warfield, King and Pitt Streets.

NIGHT RIDERS WHIP WOMEN

Mayfield, Ky., June 2.—News reached Mayfield today that a body of masked men, supposed to be from Kentucky, crossed the State line into Tennessee and raided the home of the McConnell family near Boydsville, dragged out Mrs. Santi McConnell, her mother, whose name is not given, and the latter's son in law, named Hall, and whipped them terribly with hickory switches. The three are severely injured, according to the reports. The night riders first carried Mrs. McConnell's father, who is blind, and a baby also in the house to a place of safety, then returned and did the whipping.

THE PORT OF MISSING FRIENDS

World-Wide Bureau Locates Lost, Strayed or Stolen Human Beings

The Salvation Army conducts the most extensive detective bureau in the world. The chain of branches from which the search goes forth reaches around the world and extends even to the leper colonies in Java and the criminal tribes of India. In seventy countries and colonies and over 7,000 cities, towns and villages throughout the world it has trained workers seeking those who have disappeared.

In the United States 1,900 inquiries for missing persons came into the Salvation Army last year. Out of this number The Salvation Army was successful in restoring over fifty per cent. or nearly 1,000 of the delinquents to their homes and families. Husbands and wives were reunited; lost, strayed or stolen children were restored to their parents and relatives, many of whom had come to America and forgotten to write home for several years, were finally rejoined through the efforts of The Salvation Army.

In Baltimore not long ago, a young girl disappeared from her home. Her parents kept a small shop and after all of their frantic efforts to locate her failed, they applied to the Salvation Army. Its Missing Friends Bureau began operations and after eleven months of absence that girl was restored to her people.

Lured away on a promise of marriage and a wonderful wedding journey, she was taken aboard a ship bound for South America, and was discovered only when that ship docked at a port in Argentine. There the girl was taken from the man, who needless to say, had not married her, and ill, destitute and wretched she was cared for by the Salvationists and later, when able to travel, was sent home to her people to begin life again.

The methods used by the Salvation Army to find these delinquents are many and varied. Sometimes an advertisement inserted in the War Cry, the Salvation Army's Weekly publication issued in most countries of the world, brings an old friend, a former employer or an old letter. Sometimes it takes years of painful searching, but more times than not the search has a happy and successful ending.

Two weeks ago a girl in Baltimore attempted suicide. One hundred and fifty people called at the hospital to inquire about her, thinking she might prove to be a missing daughter, wife or sister.

SLUM SETTLEMENTS

Like oases in the arid deserts, the Salvation Army Slum Settlements are planted in the hearts of the congested foreign population of the big cities.

In the eleven of these modern, fireproof, business-like structures more than 18,000 children were cared for last year in the United States. Crowded for the most part into tenements, the mamas soon learn that they are always welcome with their troubles.

The workers from these settlements visit thousands of poor families yearly and become acquainted with their needs and their troubles. They know that futility of preaching religion to the starving and shivering, and they provide the bowl of soup and loaf of bread, the warm garment and the bit of medicine and nursing attention that is needed as the opening for their religious work.

Dressing like the poorest of their neighbors in gingham dress and apron bare headed with a little shawl about their shoulders, these women who have dedicated their lives to the Master's service go forth with scrub pail and brush and scrub floors, wash dishes, launder clothes, and preach, pray and help the weak, sick and sinful. The settlements have been called Light houses on a Rocky Coast.

The most absorbing and fruitful activity part of their work is that of the nurseries. There the babies and wee toddlers of the community, under six years of age are brought by the working mothers on their way to the shop or factory. The little ones are tended, fed, bathed, amused, put to bed in snowy cribs for their naps, and given loving care—for five cents a day, if the mother can pay it. If she cannot Baby gets the care anyway. One is never refused while there is room for it.

The nickel does not pay for the bread, butter, milk and soup served them at noon and at four o'clock, but the payment of it does help to restore self-respect to the mother.

Toys are provided, and the first lessons in cleanliness, decency, unselfishness and Americanism are inculcated in these little foreigners who will some day bear fruit in splendid citizenship.

The slum workers also coax the bad boys and girls of the neighborhood into the Halls for Sunday School to keep them from the demoralizing influence of the streets.

They likewise conduct Mothers meetings where with a cup of tea and cake, the hard worked women in the bright cheer of the uplifting service and attractive surroundings get inspiration and encouragement to try to better their condition.

Seeks Power For House In Treaty Ratification

Washington, June 2.—Representative Arthur J. Griffin, of Pennsylvania calling attention to the growing part the lower branch of Congress is playing in foreign policy legislation has written Chairman Volstead of the House Judiciary Committee urging immediate committee consideration of the Griffin resolution to amend the Constitution by providing for ratification of a treaty by a majority vote of the House and Senate.

"I think the time is ripe for extension of this power to the House," Griffin wrote. "I think the people are beginning to realize that it is an anomaly in our Constitution that the direct representatives of the people should be denied a share in the responsibilities connected with treaty making and its incidents."

Dempsey Wins Shooting Contest From Detective

Atlantic City, N. J., June 2.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, claimed a new title today after engaging in a shooting contest with "Mike" Trant, the Chicago detective sergeant, to break the monotony of the second day of his four-day lay-off.

Armed with a pair of 44-caliber revolvers, Dempsey and Trant staged the shooting contest before breakfast. They stationed themselves under the window where Mother Hutchinson, the cook, was preparing breakfast and Dempsey's sparring partners were awaiting their meal. Without a word of warning, Dempsey and his detective pal opened up and the firing brought all occupants of the house to see what was going on.

AMERICA IS ON ROAD TO PROSPERITY, SAYS HARDING

Washington, June 2.—Conviction that the country has passed the most trying period of readjustment and is on the road to recovery was expressed last night by Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board, upon completion of a two weeks' survey of the agricultural and industrial sections of the Middle West and South.

Mr. Harding travelled through Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennesee and Alabama, and declared he saw every where great activity on the farms and an abundance of farm labor, with apparently every acre of land cultivated, heretofore being utilized this year.

"The trip confirmed my conviction that we in this country have now pased the most trying period of the world wide readjustment of trade and prices and are on the road to recovery," said Mr. Harding.

PLAN SUMMER CRUISE FOR ATLANTIC FLEET IN EUROPEAN WATERS

Washington, June 2.—A cruise to European waters by the Atlantic fleet this summr is under consideration at the Navy Department, it was learned today. The schedule of employment for the fleet for the summer, as submitted to the department by Admiral H. B. Wilson, comander in chief, calls for a visit to two European ports in August. The project has not as yet been formally approved by Secretary Denby.

The tentative plan calls for the fleet's dparture from New York, August 1. Twelve days would be spent at sea in tactical manuevers and exercises and the first port would be visited August 12. Half of the fleet would visit one port, probably in France, and the other a port in Great Britain. No decision has been made as to the cities to be visited.

Charlottesville, Va.—The unveiling yesterday afternoon of the bronze plaque in memory of the 80 sons of the University of Virginia who lost their lives in the world war, brought into intimate contact for the first time, the delegates, alumni and guests, who for the past two days, have been taking part in the centennial celebration. The day which had been opened with a welcome to delegats in Cabell hall, to which Jules Jusserand, the French Ambassador, and three American college presidents responded was rounded out last night with the presentation of the centennial pageant, "The Shadow of the Builders," in the new McIntire Greek theater, before 8,000 spectators.

Building activities in Virginia, as indicated by reports from the principal cities, show a conservative trend in building operations in April, 1921, as compared with April, 1920, Norfolk experienced a decided slump, In April, 1920, 141 buildings permits were issued in that city for new structures, while only thirty-nine were issued in April, 1921. Staunton merely held its own, seven permits having been issued in April of both years. Richmond leads the entire State in the number of permits issued for new construction, repairs and alterations.

For Middle-Aged Men and Women

It isn't always on-coming old age that causes men and women in the middle years of life to slow up and feel a loss of ambition and energy. Weak or disordered kidneys do not filter waste matter and impurities out of the blood as they should, and backache, tired feeling, lameness, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatic pains, biliousness, irritation of the bladder, puffiness under the eyes or other symptom or ailment appears.

SHE WAS GREATLY BENEFITED

"I feel so much better than I did before I got Foley Kidney Pills. They are fine and you may use my name in your advertisement. I am glad to help you, as your medicine helped me greatly. I truly hope some one else who needs it will get some of your medicine. Your Kidney Pills are wonderful. I cannot thank you enough for them." Laura Perry, 1540 Twiggs St., Augusta, Ga.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

strengthen the kidneys, stimulate the bladder and tone up the liver. They help the kidneys remove the accumulated poisons and soothe and heal the passages. Who Is or Was, Peggy Joyce, Mystery to Even Her Husband

Chicago, June 2.—Who is, or was, Peggy Joyce?

This question loomed today as one of the important features that may be brought out when the fair and expensive Peggy files her affidavits answering the scathing cross bill filed yesterday by her millionaire husband, James Stanley Joyce, through his attorney, Alfred S. Austrian.

Mr. Austrian confessed that he does not know, although he and Mr. Joyce have spent considerable time and money trying to find out. Weymouth Kirkland, attorney for the lure of millionaires, and, allegedly of princes, dukes, bartenders and gamblers, admitted it was a mystery to him.

So far as can be ascertained she is just Peggy, a peculiarly fascinating and costly young woman.

Attorneys on both sides today were awaiting Peggy's answering affidavits, which will be made in New York In them she is expected to deny in detail the charges of the last of her three husbands that she utilized her allowance of $300,000 a month to carry on affairs with the Prince de Felury, the Duc de Durcal, Joe Pani, a New York restaurant keeper, an army lieutenant who committed suicide and sevral other men of various sorts and conditions. The hearing on the bill for temporary alimony has been continued until next Wednesday, pending the expected affidavit.

So far the researches have disclosed Peggy's past before she married Everett A. Archbold in 1910, is a dark and deep mystery. There has been a general belief that she was born in Norfolk, Va., and that her parents' name was Upton, but a search of Norfolk birth records have failed to reveal any information on the subject.

Major Henry Davey Bale, new divisional commander of the Chesapeake Division of the Salvation Army, who has recently come from Minneapolis, has had an extensive career in Salvation Army work, which really dates back to his birth as his parents were both Salvation Army officers.

He began his commissioned service in England, where he served eight appointments. Afterwards received and served nine appointments in Canada covering a period of eighteen years.

Since being transferred to the United States, Major Bale served in Chicago prior to being stationed in Minneapolis, where he made an enviable record in bringing his territory into considerable prominence. Commendations were showered upon him and promotion to commandership of the Chesapeake Division with headquarters in Baltimore followed. Major Bale hopes to make the Chesapeake Division the banner division of the East and since his arrival all the evangelistical work has received a decided impetus.

Prize is keeping many others from making equally astounding admissions. Beautiful young women, who became known throughout the film colony for their extravagance in their halcyon days have sold their automobiles and, bit by bit, are disposing of their jewels and even their clothes, to keep up appearances.

The picture producers blame part of the present inactivity in the studios of the introduction of foreign films. Others, more frank, state that general retrenchment is necessary until business condition are better.

Standing of the Teams

Team	W	L	P.C.
First Baptist	2	0	1000
Trinity	1	1	500
Southern Methodist	1	1	500
Second Baptist	0	2	000

Score yesterday, M. E. South, 7; Second Baptist 7. Game called on account of darkness.

Game tomorrow—First Baptist vs. Trinity M. E.

Score 7-7, game called on account of darkness. This is the message that was flashed by wire to all the sporting centers of the world last night—or rather that is the message that should have been flashed as per above.

Incidently it may be said that the game was a good one to look at. The King Street Baptists opened the game by driving Pitcher Padgett from the mound with three good big healthy runs. Manager Bender of the Baptists had been making threats of strengthing his team and it looked as if he intended to make good that threat.

But the Methodists had a card up their sleeve, so to speak, since we are discussing Sunday Schol baseball, and trotted out "Flat" Morrison to do mound duty. He had fair luck but so did his opponents and the final score at dark was a tie.

There was some discussion regarding a puzzling decision by Umpire Hayne, which might have made a difference in the score and others kicked some regarding the decision on strikes and balls—but then an umpires lot is not the most pleasant in the world anyway.

Boy, 11, Faces Trial on Charge of Killing 7-Year-Old Chum

Knox, Ind., June 2.—One of the most unusual murder trials ever brought before an American court is being conducted in the Starke County Circuit Court here.

Cecil Burkett, 11, is being tried on a charge of murder in first degree. It is charged that he shot and killed in cold blood a 17-year-old playmate, Benny Slavin. The defense holds that Bennie shot himself by accident. All of the important witnesses in the case are children. On the word of these children the jury will decide whether this little boy who went to sleep in his mother's arms this afternoon during the session, is a murderer or merely a little fellow who has been caught in a net of inculminating circumstances.

Some of the children who testified against Cecil made him out a scheming little villian, capable of most any violence. Others were equally as firm that Bennie shot himself and that the accused youngster is free from guilt.

Prices on 3 1-2 Liberty

New York, June 2.—Further selling today of Liberty 3 1-2 per cent tax exempt liberty bonds forced the price of that issue down to 86.64, the lowest quotation in their history. This represents a net loss in these bonds over night of 66 points.

Other liberty issues were heavy on increased offerings, but victory notes held firm. Selling of liberty 3 1-2 according to reports in the financial district, proceeded mainly from interior sources and was ascribed to the increasing financial needs of individuals and institutions.

This painting, which hangs in National Headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, depicts the homage of America's fighting men to American womanhood as mobilized for service in the World War by this organization. It is the collaborative scientific and art creation of Major Joseph Gray Kitchell, late of the General Staff, U. S. A., and F. Luis Mora, of the New York School of Art. The face of the central figure is a composite of the features of a thousand Red Cross workers selected for the purpose.

ZION CITY OVERLORD MUST PAY WOMAN $300 DAMAGES

Waukegan, Ill., June 2.—Because the night clerk of the Zion Home would not permit Mrs. W. W. Austin, a guest, to use the telephone because he held she was attired too scantily, and because Theodore Becker, Zion chief of police) is alleged to have used force in evicting her, Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overlord of Zion, must pay $300 damages. This was the ruling made at Waukegan today by Harvey C. Coulson, justice of the peace.

In response to charges that she was scantily clad, sufficiently so to shock the night clerk, Mr. Austin testified that while she wore her night robe she was clothed in a bath robe, which was buttonly tightly up to her neck.

After being ejected from the home Mrs. Austin came to Waukegan and started suit for damages against Voliva for alleged injuries and indignities.
